A Simple Approach to Online Planrooms

PlanStreet.com is designed to assist the bidding and plan distribution process to improve productivity and minimize wasted time in order to reduce the overall cost of each project. PlanStreet's simple approach allows reprographic companies to improve the flow of information and ease the functions of construction documentation.

PlanStreet.com is an online digital library of construction plans, specs, addenda and new revisions of documents that are easy to access 24/7 from any web-enabled computer. Digital images are organized, indexed and posted to a web server in a public or private plan room. Each online plan room can be password-protected to ensure that it is accessed only by firms chosen by the content provider. Those firms that receive permission to view the plan room receive access to viewing and ordering.

PlanStreet maintains project information in digital form to enable viewing of the documents before they are printed and delivered. After viewing the files with PlanStreet's integrated viewer, project documents can be ordered with the click of a mouse, by any user, 24 hours a day. This process speeds up the distribution of project information and reduces the number of sets printed, saving time and money.

When project revisions are issued, PlanStreet users are notified of the change via email. Users may then decide to order the new documents, reducing the frustration associated with traditional methods of revision distribution.

As powerful as PlanStreet is, it's clean interface has been developed to be simple to learn, easy to use and most importantly, affordable. PlanStreet costs well under $7,000—with no hidden expenses such as hardware requirements, costly servers, T-1 lines, additional specialized IT staff, etc.

The PlanStreet Process

PlanStreet.com is unique in that it combines full functionality with an attractively low price. In addition, reprographers do not have to purchase expensive servers, T-1 lines or hire specialized IT staff members. Planrooms are hosted by PlanStreet.com, thereby relieving the reprographer of the responsibility of buying and maintaining high-tech equipment.

1. Document owner (Architect, engineer, etc.) provides electronic files or printed originals to the reprographer with instructions for use.
2. Original prints are scanned and electronic files are converted into thumbnails for viewing over the Internet. Thumbnails may be stored in low or high resolution at the discretion of the reprographer.
3. Users may then access the files online by inspecting them in the included ViewStreet viewer. Once files are selected for ordering, they are placed in the user's "shopping cart". Once the user enters billing and delivery information, the order is encrypted and emailed to the Repro shop.
4. The Repro shop receives an email order receipt detailing all aspects of the requested job, including number of prints, billing and delivery information, shipping preferences and costs and more. The desired prints are then created from the high-resolution files stored at the repro shop and delivered to the user.
5. Designated authorized users may track and administer all user, document and project information by logging into PlanStreet with their admin-level username and password.
6. Drawing addendums, updates, revisions and planholder lists are tracked in an online database that may be accessed only by designated admin-level users for reporting and accounting purposes.
